Kling Brings New Leadership to the Washington, DC, Office
The Firm Selects Pascal D. Pittman, AIA, as Principal, Managing Director

WASHINGTON, DC – October 17, 2006 – Kling, one of the nation’s leading architecture, engineering, interiors, and planning firms, is pleased to announce the selection of Pascal D. Pittman, AIA as Principal, Managing Director of the Washington, DC, office. Mr. Pittman has more than twenty-five years of experience working as an architect in the Washington, DC, area for government and private-sector clients. He has an established reputation, locally and internationally, for being able to articulate complex issues in a comprehensible, unbiased manner, resulting in a sense of trust and confidence in the Architect / Client relationship. Areas of expertise include work in the secure and intelligence marketplace, contract evaluation, project management, construction administration, and client relations.

Mr. Pittman will be responsible for meeting the needs of Kling’s clients in the Washington, DC, Metropolitan area, including Virginia, Maryland, and the extended National Capital Region. “We look forward to expanding our work within the Washington, DC, region and gaining new and challenging design assignments under his leadership,” says Thomas E. Reed, PE, Principal, Senior Director, and member of Kling’s Board of Directors.

Mr. Pittman received a Bachelor of Building Science from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1973, and then returned to obtain Bachelor of Architecture in 1980.
