

INTERIORS SR. PROJECT DESIGNER – Washington, DC

Our growing DC Interiors studio has opportunities for individuals with a minimum of 5 years experience to work on a variety of commercial, Federal government, and higher education projects.

Interiors

The KlingStubbins Interiors practice has a broad range of experience providing professional interior design services to a range of clients. We commit our expertise, resources, and energies to ensure a successful project completion. The Interiors practice seeks individuals who have extensive knowledge and experience in the design of the professional practice environment and specialize in the latest technology issues and their integration into the interior environment. Experience should also encompass the creation of state-of-the-art alternative workplace environments and the analysis and application of advanced workplace standards. Individuals should be able to provide full interior services as a cohesive effort with a team of experienced professionals.

Submission Guidelines

In order to be considered for design positions within KlingStubbins Interiors practice, candidates should submit samples of academic and/or professional work experience (as appropriate):

Samples can be representative of your work and should not constitute a full portfolio;
Submissions of graphic materials can be informal (color copies at 8 1/2" x 11" are acceptable);
Samples can also be formatted to highlight the candidate's graphic design capabilities, if so desired;
Candidates are encouraged to submit related text describing your inspiration, process, intent, concepts, etc;
Submitted school and work samples should not be considered precious and will not be returned ;
Candidates can also send links to personal websites so that we can view your work on-line;
CD and DVD formats are not preferred;
Samples of related interests (photography, drawing and painting, etc.) are welcome;
If the candidate possesses computer modeling and computer rendering skills, these abilities should be evident in the materials submitted, but not necessarily to the exclusion of other forms of graphic representation.
